

Housing sections developed in western Europe: Best for east–west exposures, (a) by Dutch architect Jacob Bakema and (b) by French architect Le Corbusier; sections (c) and (d) adapted in the University of Southern California Solar Studio for north–south exposures.

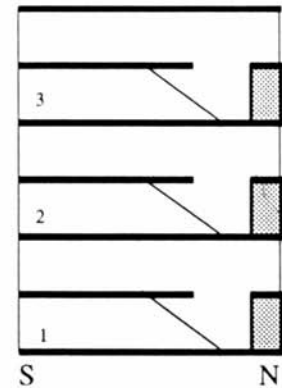

(a)

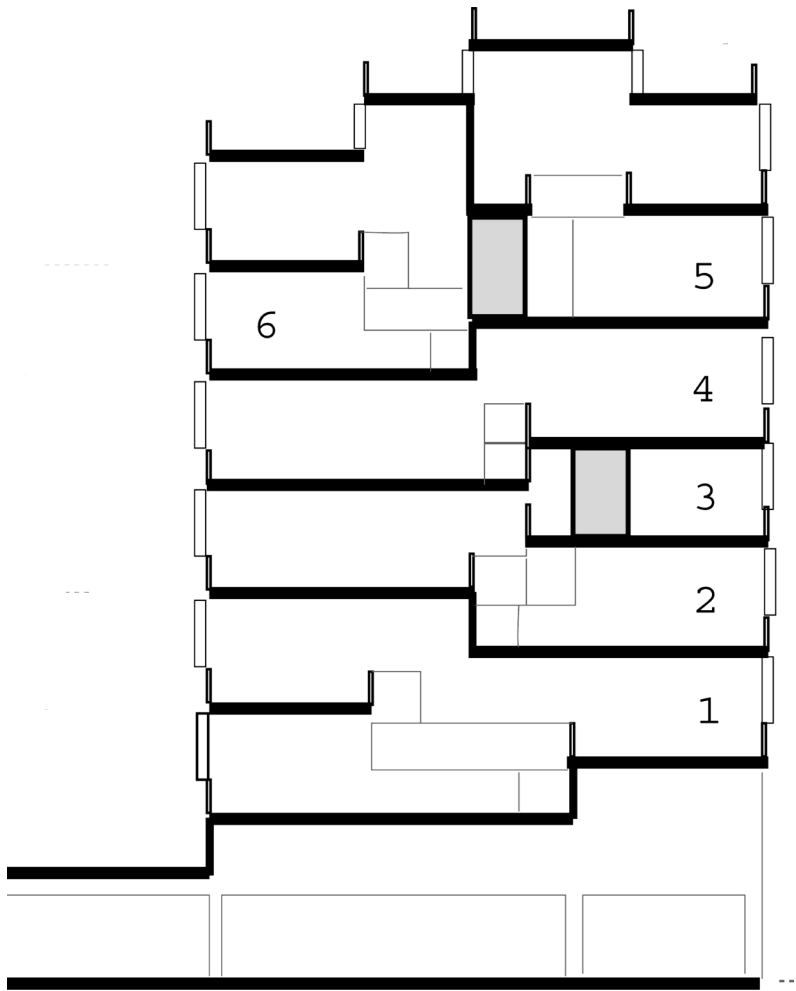

(b)

(c)

(d)

Modified Bakema Housing
Section: Double-loaded top corridor where exposed roofs, in addition to walls, provide light and cross-ventilation; Townhouses or shops
on the ground floor.