

qualification, experience) which did not reach the values of "f" for the level of statistical significance.

The study recommended the necessity of Ministry of Finance attention in the labor of social activities among them and teamwork between employees, the researcher recommended that the keenness of the public relations department to provide the community with the latest developments and services provided the ministry, and raise the level familiarity between employees and preserved it and exchange the information to achieve business objectives.

Key words: public relations, the Jordanian Ministry of Finance, job satisfaction.