

translating legal documents. Having said that, the Research and Development Department at the giant corporation should take the above findings and analysis into consideration in order to improve the performance of their tool in general and in the field of legal translation in particular.