

May 9

When humans are allowed a taste of Our mercy and We afterwards take it away,
they become despairing and ungrateful.
And when We let them taste blessing
after enduring a hardship,
they have merely said that the hardship is ended;
they are happy and proud,
[but do not think to praise their Lord].

[Such behaviour is common among people,] but not with those who are steadfast and faithfully perform good deeds;
it is they who are granted forgiveness and great reward.

11:9-11

True believers
are those who do good deeds
and humble themselves
before their Lord.
Indeed, they are destined to dwell in paradise
and live there forever.
