

by choosing Messengers
from among His human servants.
We cannot show clear proof
unless God wills it,
for believers should always trust in God.

And why should we not trust in God,
who has guided each of us to our rightly ways?
We will steadfastly bear whatever you do to hurt us,
for those who trust in God trust only Him,
they are the truly trusting people.'

14:10-12

Have you heard how God
presents a parable?

A good word is just like a good tree,
with many branches full of leaves.

Its roots go deep
and its branches reach for the sky;
it always produces fruit according to the will of God.
God presents parables
so that people may remember them.

Likewise, an evil word is like a bad tree,
with shallow roots and no foundation,
easily pulled up from the surface of the earth.

God confirms believers with truthful speech,
both in this life and the next.

God also leaves the transgressor without guidance
and does what He wills.
